BANKS. RECEIVING PLENTY.

THE DULNESS IN THE MARKET STILL DUE TO THE INACTION OF THE SENATE-OTHER FEATURES OF THE WEEK.

Sunday, October 1-p. m. The United States Treasury received last week for customs $2,804,214, from internal revenue e2.566.392, and from miscellaneous sources $128,-944; total from all, $5,499,550, against $6,251, 537 in the preceding week, which consisted of only five business days, and against $6,023,866 in the preceding full week. The falling off was partly in customs, but the miscellaneous receipts ere considerably smaller than in the previous weeks. The weekly Treasury statement shows an increase of $177,118 in the net cash in vaults and an increase of $109,825 in deposits in National banks. The net cash balances were strengthened, therefore, only by $256,943. The prominent feature of the statement was the heavy decrease in legal-tender notes, which apparently are being paid out by the Treasury in place of cold.

The principal changes in the vault balances were made up as follows: A gain in the gold balance of $199,118, by an increase of $22,838 in coin and bullion, with a reduction of $176,280 in the amount of outstanding certificates: a gain in the silver balance of $1,772,980, by an accumulation of $633,838 in coin and bullion, with a reduction of $1,109,142 in the amount of silver certificates and Treasury notes, and a loss in the legal-tender balance of $3,622,007, by a decrease of $2,552,007 in notes, in addition to an issue of $1,070,000 of currency certificates. The holdings of National bank notes again were increased by $1,827,027. The issue of Treasury notes in payment for silver bullion amounted only to $262,000, but the sum of $612,948 was reissued in the ordinary course of business, and the volume of these notes in circulation was increased by $874,-948. With the notes held by the Treasury, the entire issue has now reached the sum of $151,-207,280. The Treasury's liability for the redemption of National bank notes was enlarged further by $28,253, and the denosits of lawful money on That account amounted at the end of week to $20,775,717. The Treasury disbursements in the last week appear to have been made chiefly in old legal-tender notes and the new Treasury notes, while silver certificates to the amount of over $1,500,000 have returned to the vaults. principal changes in the vault balances were the operations of the New-York Sub-Treasury in the week ended Friday night, which included payments of $16,906 for purchased bonds and deposits of $150,000 for payment at other points, the associated banks gained $1,190,395. The weekly bank statement published yesterday showed an average gain in cash of $8,268,900. Receipts of currency from the interior were even larger than the expert estimates, and they came excidently from every section of the country. Interior banks are strengthening their reserves at this point in preference to keeping money in their own vaults. The stagnation of business was indicated by the small increase in loans. The statement was a long way from being consistent, because the increase was more than $2,250,000 less than other changes demanded. This might not have been specially remarkable if it had not followed similar, if smaller, discrepancies in the previous two weeks. The result of all the changes was a further gain of $6,510,550 in the surplus reserve, and the banks now hold in excess of legal requirements $24,120,500, against $4,392,400 in the corresponding week a year ago, and $3,102,750 in the preceding year. trading remained unchanged. The control of prices was held by professional speculators, and consequently the most active stocks were those easily susceptible to manipulation. There was at no time plain evidence of an outside interest, and the buying occasionally for European account was little more than an arbitrage business. It was admitted on all sides that the reason for the public apathy was the delay by the Federal Senate in passing the Repeal bill in regard to the present Silver law. The uncertainty in regard to financial Iduslation has interfered with the general trade, as well as with speculation.

in Pegard to linancial Rijisation has interfered with the general trade, as well as with speculation.

The favorable feature of the market in the latter part of the week was the weakness of the exchanges on Europe. This saved to prevent the danger of immediate exports of gold, which were threatened on Monday and early on Tuesday. For exports at this season there could be no reason, except the withdrawal of foreign capital. While the trade balance may still be against this country, the exports of mere andise are probably exceeding the importations, and in the last Loai weeks exports have been over $32,000,000 and the imports only about $26,000,00. There is, moreover, a wide difference in the price of money at London and New-York. It is so wife that ordinarily it would attract a fresh supply of European capital, and the possible withdrawais could only be caused by doubt about the stability of our National currency. The decline in exchange, which occurred toward the end of the week, was gladly welcomed, for in the existing circumstances the foreign exchanges furnished the best and probably most accurate barometer of speculation. With some few exceptions prices declined as rates of exchange advanced, and improved promptly as they declined.

The industrial shares were the most active, but

The industrial shares were the most active, but the movements in them were irregular. American Sugar Refining led the market in point of activity, and closed with a gain for the week of about 2 1-2 per cent. Chicago Gas, which was second, fluctuated over a rung of 6 per cent, but ended virtually without change Distilling and Cattle Feeding advanced, partly in consequence of the hope that the Ways and Means Committee would increase the tax on spirits, but General Electric declined steadily, and, although it closed considerably above its lowest point, suffered a loss of over 4 per cent. Variations in railway shares were not much less irregular. St. Paul was the only railway stock in which the transactions exceeded 10,000 shares, and it closed fractionally lower. While special stocks, like Liekawanna, gained 6 1-2 per cent, and New-England about 3 per cent, on the other hand Louisville and Nash-ville was depressed by a further issue of $5,000,000 of stock. Philadelphia and Reading and Northern Pacific preferred last over 2 per cent, but the change the sent of the control o of week to $20,775,717. The Treasury disbursements in the last week appear to have been made chiefly in old legal-tender notes and the new Treasury notes, while silver certificates to the amount of over $1,500,000 have returned to the amount of over $1,500,000 have returned to the vaults.
